

Danielle & Aisha Moodie-Mills

Executive Producers & Hosts of Politini

Aisha & Danielle Moodie-Mills are living their lives authentically, in color, and out loud in a city that is known for grey suits and clutched pearls. The pair are rising stars in Washington where they labor together in their passions and politics. They produce and co-host, Politini, a weekly politics and pop culture show on BLIS.fm, and pen the lifestyle blog Living, Loving, and Laboring OUT Loud, or threeLOL. Politini is also currently running a video series on theGrio.com, MSNBC's African-American focused news site.

Married in 2010, they've made numerous headlines as advocates that helped bring marriage equality to the nation's capital, and their wedding was the first lesbian wedding featured by Essence. The dynamic duo also launched FIRE (Fighting Injustice to Reach Equality), a policy initiative at the Center for American Progress, which works to eliminate the social, economic, and health disparities experienced by LGBT people of color.

They both have been recognized as The Root 100's top African American trailblazers and as one of the top "Forty Under 40" national LGBT leaders by The Advocate magazine.

Aisha Moodie-Mills (above left) is a democratic strategist with over a decade of experience in progressive politics and policy. She is currently a Senior Fellow and Director of the FIRE Initiative at the Center for American Progress and appears regularly as a political commentator on MSNBC. Over the past decade she has served as a political advisor, private-sector liaison, and fundraiser to more than 40 members of Congress including six senators and the Congressional Black Caucus.

Danielle Moodie-Mills (above right) is an educator, advocate, and government affairs specialist; and Advisor to the FIRE Initiative at the Center for American Progress. She is also the creator of Politini, and writes and produces the shows. Danielle was previously the lead education lobbyist for the National Wildlife Federation, and served as an aide to Mayor Michael Bloomberg (NYC) and Congresswoman Yvette Clarke (NY-11). Her writings are frequently published in The Atlantic, Essence.com and Huffington Post.
